CATHEDRAL SERVICE

Hymn 165 A and M O God, our help in ages past, Our hope for years to come, Our shelter from the stormy blast, And our eternal home;

Beneath the shadow of Thy Throne Thy Saints have dwelt secure; Suffice is Thine Arm alone, And our defence is sure.

Before the hills in order stood, Or earth received her frame, From everlasting Thou art God, To endless years the Same.

A thousand ages in Thy sight Are like an evening gown; Short as the watch that ends the night.

Before the rising sun, Time, like an ever-rolling stream, Bears all its sons away; They fly forgotten, as a dream Dies at the opening day.

O God, our help in ages past, Our hope for years to come, Be Thou our guard while troubles last, And our eternal home. Amen.

A general Confession to be said of the whole Congregation after the Minister, all kneeling.

The Absolution, or Remission of sins, to be pronounced by the Priest alone standing; the people sitting kneeling.

Then the Minister shall kneel, and say the Lord's Prayer; the people also kneeling, and repeating it with him.

Then likewise he shall say, Psalm CXXI. Levavi oculos. The Lesson: 1 Peter II, 11.

Then shall be said, or sung the Apostles' Creed by the Minister and the people, standing.

And after that, these Prayers following, all devoutly kneeling: the Minister first pronouncing with a loud voice.

A Prayer for the King's Majesty.

O Lord our heavenly Father, high and mighty, King of kings, Lord of lords, the only Ruler of princes, who dost from Thy throne behold all the dwellers upon earth; Most heartily we beseech thee with thy favor to behold our most gracious Sovereign Lord, King George, and so replenish him with the grace of thy Holy Spirit, that he may always incline to thy will, and walk in thy way.

Viviani Home After Visit To America

RENE Viviani, the noted French statesman, who recently returned to France from America, where he went as a special envoy of the French Government, M. Viviani's visit created international discussion. While he formally declared his trip was to pay the respects of France to President Harding, it is understood that his chief purpose was to create a closer bond between America and France.

BRITISH TROOPS QUELL RIOTING IN EGYPT'S CAPITAL

Many Killed, Including Europeans—Soldiers Bring Relief

(Reuter's Service) Alexandria, May 23.—A grave situation prevails here. A rumor that a Greek had killed a native led the natives to attack the Greeks and other Europeans and it is reported that many persons have been killed. Ambulances were busy throughout the night taking the wounded to hospital. Mobs smashed the shop windows and all places of business are closed. The European community assembled at the Governorate and demanded protection or permission to protect themselves. Firing is now proceeding all round, students and natives attacking the Europeans. Many places in the Lebanon district have been burned and it is reported that people were burned alive. Alexandria, May 23, later.—British troops have arrived and have taken over charge of the town. They were enthusiastically greeted by the European inhabitants.

Pope Asks Both Factions In Erin To Hold Conference

(Reuter's Service) London, May 22.—The Pope has sent to the Irish White Cross Society through Cardinal Logue the sum of £2,750 to relieve distress in Ireland. In a covering letter, which was read in all Roman Catholic churches in Ireland today, His Holiness appeals to both sides in Ireland to cease the strife. He urges that the issue be referred to a body selected by the whole of the Irish nation, and that, when this conference has published its findings, the more influential among both parties should meet with a view to settling the question in a sincere spirit of peace and reconciliation.

Marine Strikers Hoot Volunteers

(Reuter's Service) New York, May 21.—The strikers besieged the piers this morning when the Aquitania (including in her complement 150 volunteers who undertook to replace the striking stewards in order that the vessel might sail) was docking, abusing the volunteer stewards. Stones were thrown at the police who fired into the air, dispersing the demonstrators. The passengers landed undisturbed.

ITALIAN ELECTION

(Reuter's Service) Rome, May 21.—The final results of the elections are as follows: Coalitionists, 189; Socialists, 124; Catholics, 108; Communists, 15; and other groups, 101. Of which the Fascist, Nationalist and Agrarians form a strong bloc of 62, pledged to prevent Socialist obstruction.

EFFORT MADE TO BRIBE ASSESSOR IN ROBBERY CASE

Tis. 5,000 Offered J. C. Hutchison To Free Suspect

CLUB SERVANT NAMED

Senior Assessor Blackburn Indignant Over Allegations

Sensational charges of the attempted bribery of a British Assessor and the conviction on the charge of murder of four men marked the opening of the case yesterday arising from the Pakhoi Road armed robber round-up, in which two Chinese detectives were shot to death and foreign detective Inspector Prince was wounded.

The bribery charge was brought by British Assessor J. C. Hutchison against a boy employed at the Country Club, who was alleged to have made an offer of Tis. 5,000 to the Assessor in the event that one of the defendants in the armed robber case being free. The latter case is being heard by Assessor Hutchison and the man in whose behalf the offer was made, one Poo King-yung, while not included on the murder charge, is held to have been one of the directors of the band's activities. He is reputed to be wealthy, is the manager of a theater, and a well known character among the Chinese.

The bribery charge was heard by Assessor Blackburn previous to the opening of the case. The defendant is one Zia Sui-shing, described on the charge sheet as a billiard marker at the Country Club and said to be the son of the Club's No. 1 "boy."

After evidence of arrest had been given by Detective Sergeant Douglas, Mr. Hutchison said he would like to make a statement.

BRIBE OFFERED

Before dinner one evening, he told the court, and while he was alone, his boy had come to him and spoken to him about this defendant in the armed robber case, stating that he was innocent and going on to relate that the man was a rich man, worth Tis. 30,000. He then gave Mr. Hutchison to understand that if the defendant escaped unpunished he would come and make "an expression of thanks."

Mr. Hutchison sent the boy away but the boy broached the subject again next day, stating that the defendant would make the Assessor a present if acquitted. An attempt to tax the boy with bribery brought a denial and the statement that the boy was only repeating what another man had told him. This Mr. Hutchison reported to his superior.

On Sunday, while he was at the Country Club, Mr. Hutchison said, the accused in the bribery case came to him and whispered to him that if he would get the defendant in the armed robbery case free the man's wife would pay Tis. 5,000. He took the boy to the secretary's office and sent for the police.

Later, Mr. Hutchison continued, he saw the boy again, but he had changed the number on his coat. He remarked to him: "I know your face. It is no good changing your number." When the detective arrived he pointed out this boy, who denied being the one who made the offer. The head boy then stated that the suspect was his son and produced another Chinese whom he said might be his mind. Mr. Hutchison, however, stated to the court that he was positive the man in the dock was the one who made the proposition.

When Mr. Hutchison had concluded Mr. R. C. Faithful, police prosecutor, stated that he had a Chinese letter bearing on the subject of the attempted bribery. Other witnesses, however, expressed doubt about the identity of the boy and Major Brooke, secretary of the Club, expressed grave doubt as to whether the accused were the right man. A No. 2 boy, who resembled the accused, had absconded since the arrest, he testified. One of the Club boys stated positively that the defendant was not the man wanted.

Assessor Blackburn ruled that the defendant would have to be dismissed.

"The charge against the accused," the Assessor said, "is one of offering Mr. J. C. Hutchison a bribe of Tis. 5,000 with the hope of influencing him in the discharge of his duties as a Court Assessor, contrary to the Chinese Provisional Criminal Code."

"As Senior British Assessor in this Court, I cannot but take a most serious view of this offense."

JAPANESE AND AMERICAN TARS FIGHT IN STREETS

Two U. S. Sailors Dangerously Wounded During Outbreaks

MANY OTHERS HURT

No Japs Arrested; Bluejackets Are Fined; Shore Leave Stopped

Two American bluejackets are in hospital in a serious condition with knife wounds and a dozen or more others are suffering from stabs of less dangerous nature as a result of a series of fierce outbreaks of street fighting between American sailors and Japanese sailors and civilians which kept the Hongkew district in a blaze of excitement for several hours Sunday night.

A number of Japanese are believed to have been injured also in the fighting, but no details of the number or the extent of injuries suffered has been made. It was said at the Japanese Consulate yesterday that some Japanese had been hurt—how badly, or who they were, was not yet known.

It was at first believed that the Americans were largely, if not entirely at fault, but it is now held that the Japanese should be credited with a good share of the blame. There were, the police state, many drunken Japanese rowdies in the crowds which fought the sailors and these are believed to have been the knife wielders. The fact also that no Japanese were taken into custody, notwithstanding the many injuries suffered among the American participants, is regarded as significant indication that some at least of the Japanese attacks were well planned.

Exaggerated reports of the trouble wired to Japan are declared to have been a factor in a sharp break in the Japanese share market. As a consequence of the brawl, three Americans from the U.S.S. Hiron were fined by United States Commissioner Schuhl yesterday, shore leave has been cancelled for all the U. S. ships in port and the bar-room district of Hongkew has been placed definitely out of bounds for the sailors.

There were no Japanese arrests. It was stated at the Consulate however that Japanese sailors would not be allowed to visit the Hongkew district after nightfall and that an investigation will be made.

SKYLARKING BLAMED

Street skylarking by the American sailors, accompanied by an indiscriminate tossing about of giant firecrackers—principally directed at Japanese—is held to have given rise to the outbreaks of Sunday night. According to reports from both foreigners and Japanese the sailors for several days have been amusing themselves by throwing lighted crackers into knots of pedestrians and even into richas, in consequence of which the annoyance of the Japanese rose to a pitch which finally blazed into open conflict. It was the tossing of these crackers at the feet of a body of Japanese sailors on Yalu Road, the police state, which started the fighting. Subsequently outbreaks occurred at various points throughout the district, reports of which kept the police dashing from place to place for several hours.

Another story is that the trouble began in a brothe on Yalu Road, and still another that it arose when two American sailors took a parcel from a Japanese and began playing catch with it. It is believed, however, that these are isolated instances which did not develop the original flare-up but served possibly to start some of the fights which occurred.

The first report of the disturbances Sunday came to Hongkew police station at about 9:30 p.m. when Captain Kearney, 162 Quinsan Road, "phoned that a number of Japanese had assembled and were assaulting American sailors on Woosung Road, and that a Japanese police constable, instead of trying to stop the trouble, was helping his countrymen. The trouble had subsided when the police from the station arrived and the Japanese constable reported that he had seen an American sailor run into a shop at 365 Woosung Road pursued by a Japanese and that he had stopped the latter and sent him away, afterward sending the American away.

A few minutes later a report was received of a disturbance between Japanese and American sailors in Yalu Road. Sub-inspector Everson and a party of

JAP TREATY 'ANATHEMA' TO AMERICA, SAYS HUGHES

Australian Leader Sees Big Problem For Empire Parleys

URGES CHANGES

Admits Dominions Must Share Burden Of Naval Expense

(Reuter's Service) London, May 23.—The Australian Federal Premier, Mr. W. M. Hughes, last night delivered a highly important speech on Empire policy. He said the Imperial Conference had been called specially to deal with the naval defence of the Empire. Until recently the Dominions had had no voice in the Empire's foreign policy, and that was right, because the policy depended on the Navy, which Great Britain owned and maintained, and therefore there was no justification for the Dominions having a voice in that policy.

The statesmen of Great Britain were the first to recognize that the Dominions should be consulted in future matters of foreign policy, because out of that policy wars were hatched. Great Britain told the Dominions plainly that she could no longer bear the expense of maintaining a great navy, and that the Dominions must bear a share of the burden. No request, said Mr. Hughes, could be more reasonable.

Any scheme of imperial naval defence must provide for defence in the Pacific Ocean, and that was a vital matter to Australia. "We are very near to the overland East," he continued, "and cannot be safe unless we are secure in the Pacific. The East is doing. We must ensure that our acts and views are not misrepresented to them, for they are neighbors with whom we desire to trade and live in peace."

LONG COASTLINE

"We have a coastline three times as long as that of America, and Australia's existence depends on an adequate Imperial Navy. The future hope of the world is an Anglo-American alliance. Therefore here is our dilemma—our safety lies in the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty, yet that treaty is anathema to America."

Mr. Hughes went on to declare that the Anglo-Japanese Treaty must be renewed in some form, and modified, if that were deemed proper, by the forthcoming Conference of Empire Premiers, to make it acceptable to Great Britain, America, Japan and Australia. Continuing, he said: "I do not think that is impossible, and I think that the interests of Australia lie in the renewal of the Treaty."

"The trouble in America is that the Japanese want the right of entry and to hold land in the United States. Australia's attitude is alike to America's in this matter, but the Japanese should not consequently think that we regard them as inferiors. We admire their bravery and their patriotism, and we acclaim their magnificent achievements. We have got our ideals. They have got theirs."

"I want the Japanese to understand clearly that the Australians are anxious to remain in peace and friendship with Japan. If the Japanese complain of any act of ours it is unreasonable, for no foreigner is allowed to hold land in Japan, and they do not recognize naturalization as denationalizing any Japanese. Yet these are the main grounds of the differences between the United States and Japan."

"But these matters are capable of adjustment by peace-loving nations. It is the bounden duty of Australia to use every means at her disposal to effect such a modus vivendi as will secure the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty in a form agreeable to the United States."

BRITAIN'S DILEMMA

"Hence the dilemma is that, while making every effort to retain the friendship of Japan, Australia and Great Britain cannot shut their eyes to the fact that there is a grave danger now of such a naval rivalry in the Pacific as will be a heavy drain on all concerned, and having reflex influence upon the whole world."

In conclusion, Mr. Hughes declared the British Empire to be the most powerful agency for the

Chauffeurs' Squeeze Bane Of Shanghai Motorists

BY ELSIE MCCORMICK

THOUGH it may be true that the Chinese chauffeur does not know a spark-plug from a differential, there are other branches of learning in which he deserves a degree, preferably the third. He knows more about "grafting" (U.S.A. version) than Luther Burbank and more concerning quick methods of doubling his income than the writers of "success in business" articles in the American Magazine.

The chauffeur's troubles in Shanghai are manifold. He has more than five times as many automobiles as he has chauffeurs, and his wife, who will return home, her husband knows that she won't, as she never was fond of doing her own work, but then he is not at his best in scenes and shows visible signs of weakening by the very emphasis of his refusal. Ah Lee, deftly passing the potatoes and bamboo sprouts with a face as devoid of expression as a Japanese cat is of a tall, knows by experience in other family bouts that a treaty of peace will be signed shortly with the husband playing the part of the American delegates. By a remarkable coincidence next day a circular arrives from a local automobile agency, describing a car just the right size for the family. Friend Husband finally drops in and looks at it, not because he has any intention of buying it, of course, but because he likes to keep up with the new models and anyway, he had other business in the neighborhood. The last act of this oft-repeated drama usually culminates in the exchange of an appropriate number of taels and the proud driving of the car home where the lady of the house complains that it shouldn't have been painted gray as gray doesn't go well with her delicate complexion. The owner never sees the epilogue, however, which occurs when the houseboy presents himself to the garage with a smile as oily as a French salad dressing, and demands an appropriate sum.

A ROCKY ROAD

But the man who thinks that his troubles are ended when he satisfies the voting majority of the household by the purchase of a car is as misled as the dramatist who believes that he has solved the troubles of his characters by lowering the curtain to the music of the wedding march. There are many rocks on the road, both figuratively and literally speaking, and the chauffeur will make it his business to see that none of them are overlooked.

One of the first characteristics that the new owner is likely to note about his purchase is its inordinate appetite for gasoline. With a thumb firmly planted on the line in the circular which describes the car's ability to do fifteen or sixteen miles on a gallon the owner calls at the garage and demands to know whether he has bought an automobile or an inebriate. The agent invites him to send in the machine for a general testing and overhauling, later proving its ability to live up to its reputation for sobriety. As soon as it returns home, however, the car falls from grace and continues

GERMANY ACCEDES TO ALL ALLIED DEMANDS

WIRTH BLAMED

Teuton Nationalists Violently Attack Chancellor For Surrender

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 21.—The German Chancellor, Dr. Wirth, has communicated to General Nollet, Chairman of the Inter-Allied Military Control Commission, the German Government's reply to the Allied note (telegraphed by Reuter from Berlin on May 27), demanding (1) Germany's endorsement of the Allies' list specifying those factories which alone will be authorized to manufacture munitions, and (2) the dissolution of German self-defence organizations by June 30.

The German note accedes to all the Allied demands, including the reduction of factories authorized to manufacture munitions, the dismantling of fortresses in the North and East, and the dissolution of the special military bureaux, which are merely the resort of soldiers camouflaged as civilians.

The German note adds that in most cases the German Government issued the necessary instructions long before the expiry of the time limit set by the Allies (May 20).

The note is highly displeasing to the German Nationalist press, which has broken out into violent attacks on Dr. Wirth. In the course of an interview with a German journalist, Dr. Wirth, referring to the disarmament of Bavaria, declared his conviction that the problem was susceptible of solution, and that the German Cabinet was at present considering proposals which it would submit to the Reichstag and which it was hoped would meet the Allies' demands.

READY TO ACT

Berlin, May 21.—Definite measures for the execution of the Allied ultimatum are officially announced as comprising the indemnification of exporters for the levy imposed by the Entente on German exports. The Government has also begun the restitution of railway material seized from the Allied countries during the war. The first instalment of 5,000 wagons has been handed over.

Paris, May 22.—The Petit Parisien understands that Colonel Percival, British representative on the Upper-Silesian Commission, acting on instructions from the British Government, is in full agreement with General Lerond and the Italian representative as to the desirability of notifying the German local authorities of the danger arising from the continued infiltration across the German-Silesian frontier.

Endue him plentifully with heavenly gifts; grant him in health and wealth long to live; strengthen him that he may vanquish and overcome all his enemies; and finally, after this life, he may attain everlasting joy and felicity; through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

A Prayer for the High Court of Parliament.

HYMN II.

O God of earth and altar,
Bow down and hear our cry,
Our earthy rulers falter,
Our people drift and die;
The walls of gold entomb us,
The swords of scorn divide,
Take not thy thunder from us,
But take away our pride.

From all that terror teaches,
From lies of tongue and pen,
From all the easy speeches
That comfort cruel men,
From sale and profanation
Of honor and the sword,
From sleep and from damnation,
Deliver us, good Lord!

Tie in a living tether
The prince and priest and thrall,
Bind all our lives together,
Smite us and save us all;
In ire and exultation
Adame with faith, and free,
Lift up a living nation,
A single sword to thee.

feurs care to repeat to them, and trust them to purchase supplies to the extent of hundreds of dollars. The cleverest men in town seem to declare a moratorium on their business sense when they deal with their chauffeurs.

The only free service which a Shanghai car owner receives is that of young boys whom the chauffeurs permit to wash the machines. They receive no money for this service, feeling amply compensated by the privilege of running the machine in and out of the garage, thus getting a free course of handling an automobile, which will prepare them to become full-fledged car drivers later on. This chauffeur primary school is responsible for many a bent fender and dented radiator which the owner, after fruitless investigation, decides to accept as a visitation of Providence.

IMPROVEMENT SOUGHT

Though forced to follow the obnoxious cunha system by the car-owners' habit of trusting the purchasing to their employees, many garages in the city are making a sincere effort to improve automobile conditions. They do their best to decrease speeding, one garage maintaining an informal court which fastens ten dollar fines on any of its chauffeurs guilty of "furious driving." In such cases it also charges the defendant the urgent cable rate of two dollars a word for any comment's passed on the sentence. Shanghai has the car habit to a far greater extent than western cities. At home it is quite proper for a man in middle class circumstances to pilot a young lady to the theater in a street-car. The gentleman who made a faux pas of this sort in Shanghai, however, would on next application find the young lady's date-book occupied until August, 1922. The financial burden entailed by the custom is less than almost anywhere else in the world, especially considering the fact that the price of gasoline average a dollar a gallon.

It occasionally happens that a chauffeur has a real grievance, such as occurs when the occupants of a hired car, being overstimulated, refuse to sign the chit and beat the driver when he protests. But on the whole, the followers of this particular craft sit high on the top of the world, receiving mishaps to their crafts with remarkable cheerfulness, and often turning the left fender after having been struck on the right.

Canton Mechanics Demand More Pay

(Router's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, May 23.—Owing to the refusal of the employers to accept their demands for shorter hours and an increase of pay, a meeting of Canton mechanics on Friday asked for a definite reply within a week. Representatives of over 10,000 mechanics have petitioned the authorities to help in bringing about a settlement, in order to prevent a strike.

British Gunboats Not Used In South To Transport Arms

(Router's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, May 23.—In connection with the protest of the Canton authorities to His Majesty's Consul at Shamen, regarding the rumor as to British gunboats transporting arms and ammunition to Wuchow, the Consul has officially replied that such an infamous thing would not be done by the British Navy. The Consul requested the Chinese authorities not to believe such groundless rumors.

He further complained of the activities of some people, who have advocated a boycott of British goods, which is considered a great menace to Anglo-Chinese relations, and he holds the Chinese responsible for the consequences.

A meeting at the Canton Mechanics' Institute on Friday, where the attendance numbered some 4,000 discussed the reports concerning the visit of the Governor of Hongkong to Peking, and the rumored transportation of arms and ammunition in British gunboats to Kwangsi.

Resolutions were adopted to the effect that (1) a strong protest should be lodged with the Peking and Canton authorities, and (2) the laborers should subscribe monthly from their wages to support the Canton "Government" in conducting an expedition against Kwangsi.

Boulon Suit Against G.W.W. Opens Today

It is believed that opening portions of the trial of the suit of Mr. F. G. Boulon against Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, which opens this morning in the United States Court before Judge C. S. Lobingier, will be given over largely to an analysis of exchange and other business transactions that enter into the claims being made by the former manager of the company here.

In the action Mr. Boulon is seeking to recover Gold $15,000 and Tls. 14,220 he alleges to be due in the form of unpaid salary, commissions, loans and profits and the company, as set forth in its answer to the suit seeks as a counter claim the sum of Tls. 15,597.

SUNDAY FIRES

Slight damage was done at three fires which occurred on Sunday. Despite two usable hydrants, a blaze at a printing and book-binding establishment, 1337 Chekiang Road, in the early morning was brought under control by the Central Station unassisted. Only the premises where the fire originated were gutted. JA3 Sung Kiang Loong which adjoined the North side of the building was intact, but one or two small shops on Chekiang Road and Sung Kiang Loong were partially affected.

Shortly before noon, a small fire at 34 Canton Road, was extinguished by the inmates before the brigade arrived.

In the evening, a fire at an oil mill at 36 West Soochow Road was extinguished with the assistance of the mill staff. Sisa division responded to the call.

SMUTS ADVISES BRITAIN TO KEEP OUT OF EUROPE

Advocates Policy Of Non-Entanglement With Continent

(Router's Service)

Cape Town, May 22.—Speaking in the Union House of Assembly, General Smuts (Prime Minister) made a most important statement regarding the impending meeting of the Prime Ministers of the Empire in London. He urged that the policy of the British Empire should be directed to attaining a real world peace, and advocated a return to the traditional British policy of as far as possible keeping out of Continental entanglements. The British Empire should make a great effort to get Europe out of the rut in which she was drifting to a final disaster.

If the British Empire, General Smuts continued, laid down its own peaceful policy, not dictated by partisan or outside considerations, but entirely by the considerations of securing the peace and prosperity of the world, and if America backed the Empire in this, he was sure it was possible even at this late hour to secure world peace. The Empire's policy, he declared, should be to try and remove the feelings which were keeping asunder the countries of Europe, and to establish normal conditions on the Continent.

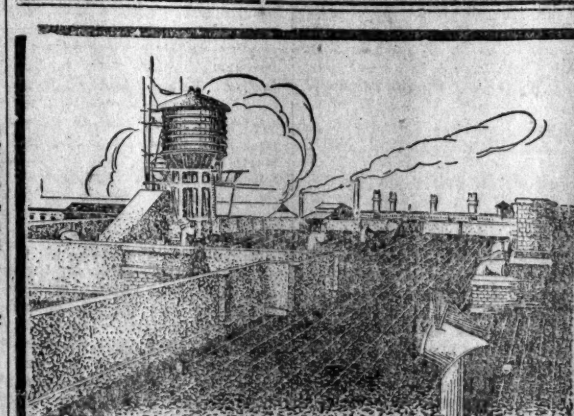

With regard to the question of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, the paramount consideration, he said, was to secure as far as possible Anglo-American understanding and co-operation. The Treaty should not be renewed unless we could satisfy America by the form of the Treaty that no harm to her interests could follow the renewal.

South Africa, General Smuts concluded, had only a small interest in the question of the naval defence of the Empire, as the vital spots for defence were in other waters than South Africa. The correct policy for South Africa was more and more to become responsible for the defence of her own coast.

Palace Hotel Man Hurt In Collision Of Truck And Auto

Mr. Hampton In Hospital; G. A. Marshall Of Central Garage Slightly Cut

Mr. Hampton of the Palace Hotel sustained injuries that necessitated his removal to the hospital and Mr. G. A. Marshall, sales manager of the Central Garage, was cut about the hands last night when the Willys-Knight automobile which the latter was driving and a Public Works Department tank truck collided on The Bund.

The accident occurred near the Masnie Hall and both drivers were evidently confused by the traffic regulations caused by the street repairing work going on. Mr. Marshall's car was struck while he was attempting to get out of the way of the big truck which was driven by a Chinese chauffeur. The passenger car was badly damaged.

Obituary

DR. NEIL MACLEOD
Telegrams yesterday tell of the death in England on May 19 of Dr. R. Neil MacLeod, for many years one of the leading members of the medical profession in the Shanghai Settlement. Dr. MacLeod, who left Shanghai but a few weeks ago was in the best of health at the time of his departure for England. A sudden attack of illness demanding an operation was responsible for the doctor's death. He was in his 75th year.

A long resident in Shanghai, Dr. MacLeod had a host of friends here who will hear of his death with the deepest sorrow and regret. Until a few years ago the doctor was a member of the firm of Doctors MacLeod, Marsh, Marshall and Murray, popularly known as the "M" firm.

Dr. MacLeod was also a keen business man. He has figured conspicuously in the development of the Settlement, taking leading parts on boards of various industrial and development companies. He had often served the Council in an advisory capacity.

A daughter, Miss Annie MacLeod, who accompanied the doctor on his homeward voyage a short time back, a son, Mr. R. N. MacLeod, who followed his father from Shanghai a short time ago, and a younger son, now in training as a doctor in England survive the deceased. Mrs. MacLeod died several years ago.

Pootung Shudders Before Manifestations Of Doom

Apprehension in voluminous, opaque folds has descended upon Pootung, the inhabitants hereof are preparing in numbers to depart for other and less infelicitous districts—such, at any rate is the rumor which is agitating the tea shops these evenings.

"Alarming" is the Chinese descriptive for a series of manifestations which has disconcerted the citizens across the Whangpoo and from Lai Nyl Doo to Yang Ka Doo the women of the households have been busying themselves for the past week in getting their household treasures into compact compass in preparation for a hurried exodus. Disaster such as would make the fate of Tyre and Sidon seem but mild chastisements is headed for Pootung on a non-stop schedule, according to present prognostications.

A few days ago, it seems, a venerable and plausible appearing Buddhist priest passed briskly through the villages on the right bank of the river, pausing in each of them to lift his eyes and digits skyward in consternation for the wickedness of their present state and to exhort the villagers to better behavior and a campaign of good deeds. If no heed was given his words, he said, fire and other destructive elements would be the reward.

The venerable pilgrim words evidently registered a bulls-eye on the Pootung conscience, for he left a seething wake of worry. Many families moved and others got ready to jump the instant the fire gong rattled. The excitement became so noticeable that the police got interested and when the extent of the Buddhist influence was known to them, started a corrective propaganda, backed by the criminal statistics, to show that the place was no more sinful than the ordinary. These measures had a reassuring effect and things might have settled back to normal had it not been for Mr. Tang Mow-toh's black dog.

Mr. Tang is a respectable citizen living at To Yuen Zah and his dog is above reproach. Still, when the animal, at one incredible leap, mounted the rooftop of the Tang domicile a couple of evenings after the passage of the priest the neighbors flocked out into their dooryards and began to comment. And that same night, the Chinese commentators breathlessly comment, Mrs. Tang gave birth to a child. Just what bearing this event has upon the prospective punishment of Pootung is somewhat nebulous, nevertheless the gymnastics of the dog and the advent of the infant Tang started another furor and next morning the Pootungites resumed packing with accelerated vigor.

The process was speeded up by Mr. Tang's calling in of a fortune teller who got some wonderfully encouraging advance notices for the infant Tang but whose ouli board went hysterical immediately thereafter on the subject of configurations and picked the Tang establishment as the starting point for a record blaze.

In order to stave off the holocaust Tang invited in a flock of Taoist priests. They made sacrifices and put on a program of corrective rites which impressed the populace. The police got busy again and once more the villagers remaining decided to give the town another chance.

And just as life seemed to be getting back on an even keel in Pootung a white leghorn hen set the whole place in an uproar and started a fresh panic.

The hen in question belonged to a cake shop proprietor in Yang Ka Doo and had previously been well behaved. Yesterday morning, however, this hitherto inoffensive fowl strutted out in front of its owner's establishment and burst into a loud and unmistakable masculine crow, continuing in this strain until the horrified cake wrangler came out and strangled the unnatural bird.

Yesterday Pootung, or so it is reported, was goggle-eyed and frantic over the latest indication of a hovering doom and notwithstanding the fact that the pastry purveyor has called in witches to try and figure out an auspicious significance for the bird's unauthorised assumption of the franchise, the whole community is—as the orators say—standing aghast.

Rains In Shansi Insure Good Crops

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Shanghai, May 22.—Reuter's correspondent at Taiyuanfu writes:

Good rain has fallen throughout Shansi during the last ten days, which has enabled the farmers to sow their autumn crops, and which will help to produce a good crop of wheat within the next month. As far as one can see there will be no famine to report in this province this year.

The Shansi Famine Relief Society is extending its road-making operations, continuing the road from Taiyuanfu to Chinsu and Fenchowfu, thus connecting with the road built by the American Red Cross, from Fenchowfu to the Yellow River. This will complete a good road from the Yellow River at Hoku to the capital, a distance of over 100 miles. It is planned to macadamise the stretch from Taiyuanfu to Shinsu in the hope that eventually the whole of the provincial motor-roads will be macadamised. Unless that is done, heavy motor traffic will be impossible. Famine labor is to be used for all these projects.

The graduating classes in engineering in the Shansi Government University are visiting Peking and Tientsin, inspecting engineering workshops and other places of practical interest. These tours of inspection have been the practice of the University for several years.

Traffic in morphia, pills and opium is on the increase in Shansi in many centers; the pills are being manufactured locally but large stocks are being imported from Chihli and Honan. Wealthy families are being totally ruined by the evil and corruption among officials and the police is on the increase. Conditions in this respect are becoming rapidly worse and, unless stern measures of repression are soon taken, Shansi will be in a worse state than she was in the old opium days.

1200 French Firms Exhibit At Fair

(French Wireless through Reuter)
Paris, May 21.—The Beirut Fair opened a few days ago.

The ex-Minister, M. Fernand David, who is attending the Fair as special delegate of the French Government, reports that the French section of the Fair has been well organized. There are over 1,200 French exhibitors and excellent business has already been transacted, orders being obtained in particular for French textiles and merchandise classified as "articles de mode" and "articles de luxe."

The commercial data hitherto available relative to Syria has been distinctly meagre, and the Fair has opened the eyes of French traders to the economic possibilities of the country, M. David says.

M. David has been in Syria for a fortnight, and before proceeding to Beirut he toured the Tripoli (Syria) and Southern Lebanon districts in company with General Gouraud, the French High Commissioner. M. David reports that the sympathy which the inhabitants feel toward France is manifest on every hand and that one and all earnestly desire the continuance of French guidance and support of the Syrian and Lebanese peoples.

At Damascus, as at Beirut, M. David was much struck by the growing importance of French business and the effective work of French charitable organizations. He was able to assure French residents that their enterprise would have his fullest support, in his report to Parliament.

China Motors Buys Andersen, Meyer Automobile Interests

The purchase of the entire motor car interests of Andersen, Meyer & Co., in China, by The China Motors Ltd., is announced by Mr. Leon Friedman, the General Manager. The deal involving approximately $200,000, is one of the largest of the year in motor car circles.

By terms of the agreement the China Motors Ltd., acquires the agency for the Dort car; the Milburn Electric car, of which about fifty are owned locally; the Andersen, Meyer & Co.'s electrical charging plant in Shanghai; sub agencies in the principal cities in China, and all the extensive stock of motor cars, supplies and equipment of the selling concern. The electrical charging plant will be removed at once to the Star Garage on Bubbling Well Road, where battery charging service will be supplied to the owners of electric cars.

The plant acquired in Peking includes a modern fire-proof building with garage and ample storerooms and is now the best equipped motor car establishment in North China. Mr. A. B. Wood, wellknown to the motor trade in Shanghai, left for Peking yesterday to take charge of the branch for the China Motors, Ltd.

In March, shortly after the China Motors Ltd. had been purchased by the Shanghai Hotels Ltd., the new owners purchased twelve mow of land in the Hongkew district for an immense modern assembling and body-building plant. Last month Mr. Leon Friedman visited Peking, Tientsin and other centers, in interests of the China Motors Ltd., establishing new sub-agencies and it was at this time that negotiations began with Messrs. Andersen, Meyer & Co. The present deal is the second one of consequences consummated during the brief period since Mr. Leon Friedman and his brother Mr. Max Friedman were placed at the head of affairs of the China Motors Ltd.

The Dort and the Milburn cars therefore become members of a very distinguished family of motor cars for which The China Motors Ltd. are distributors for all of China. The line includes the Hummobile, Chandler, Dodge, Cleveland and Standard motor cars, Trucks and lorries of every capacity are also handled, the principal lines being Leyland and Clydesdale.

AMERICAN LEGION PLAN PILGRIMAGE ON MEMORIAL DAY

Will Pay Tribute To Memory Of General Frederick Ward

A pilgrimage to the grave of General Frederick Ward at Sungkiang by the local post of the American Legion and members of the American Community of Shanghai will be the principal event in this year's observance of Memorial Day. The pilgrimage will be made on Sunday, May 29.

Admiral Joseph Straus, Judge C. S. Lobingier, Consul General E. S. Cunningham, as well as all American naval officers and men, and the whole community of Shanghai have been invited to participate in the rites.

Admiral Straus is sending a firing squad and trumpeter from the Huron's Marine Guard to sound and fire the customary salute. There will also be an official representative of the Admiral's staff. Admiral Straus himself expects to be absent from Shanghai on the date set for the pilgrimage so will not be able to attend. He has expressed his keen regrets.

An impressive program has been arranged by the American Legionaries for paying their respects to the heroic figure who led the "Ever Victorious Army" of Shanghai against the Taiping rebels in 1862, and died from wounds received in battle. The local post of the American Legion has been named after General Ward.

Judge Lobingier will deliver the Memorial Day oration and several other speakers will follow. A number of high Chinese officials also are expected to be present.

After the ceremony and the oration the day will be given over to an old-fashioned picnic. Ladies of the Legionaries will make the pilgrimage with their husbands, or sons, or friends. Every ex-service man, whether of the Legion or not is expected to be in attendance. The Community is expected to send a big representation. A picnic tiffin will be served.

The excursion will leave Shanghai North Station at 9 a.m., May 29, in a special train. The Shanghai Hangchow-Ningpo Railway Line has quoted a special rate, of $1.60 for round trip tickets, acceptable only on this train.

Mr. J. T. Wright of the American Consulate, Adjutant of the Frederick Ward Post will be glad to give any information desired in connection with the pilgrimage to those who may request same.

Japanese And U.S. Sailors In Fight

Police patrolled the district, but the fighting had stopped. POLICE ARE ATTACKED

Shortly after 11 o'clock a Japanese police constable reported to the station that a crowd of Japanese sailors and civilians, armed with sticks, were going along Woosung Road looking for American sailors. Sub-Inspector Everson and his party again started out and as they approached Woosung and Quinsan Roads they were met with a shower of stones and bottles thrown by a party of American sailors who had gathered in Quinsan Road. The Sub-Inspector testified in Court yesterday that he was convinced the men took the police for Japanese. The Sub-Inspector went to the crowd and called upon Petty Officer Babcock of the U.S.S. Huron to withdraw the men. This the petty officer promised to do if the police would give them the name of Constable Spurgeon, whom they claimed had struck one of the party. This was done, it was stated, but the officer then refused to order the sailors away, saying that they were "looking for Japs."

Repeated refusals to move were made and a bottle was thrown at the Sub-Inspector. The police then took Babcock, R. Clarke and S. J. Christen, all of the Huron, to the station. Clarke was suffering from stab wounds in the head and back and was sent to hospital, where he remains, in a very critical condition. Shortly afterward a Japanese constable brought another American sailor, Charles Lindsay, to the station. He too was suffering from knife wounds in the head and back and had been found lying at the corner of Yuhang and Woosung Roads. He was sent to hospital.

A third seriously injured American sailor was sent in by Chief Inspector Macgregor. This was J. A. Palazzola, discovered at the corner of Yuhang and Miller Roads with severe cuts about the head. The latter and Clarke are still in hospital, the most seriously hurt of the American victims.

Several other American sailors later came to the station for first aid for their wounds but declined hospital assistance. Lieutenant Halght of the U.S.S. Huron arrived at the station shortly after 1 o'clock and the men not already sent to hospital were given into his custody.

THREE ARE FINED
In the United States Court yesterday the police testimony in connection with the cases of the American sailors tried showed that there was blame to be attached also to the Japanese for

JAPAN TEAM WILL ARRIVE EARLY TODAY

Nipponese Coming Here On Yawata Maru To Be Greeted At Dock

FILIPINOS NEXT

Game This Afternoon Between Chinese Fives; Football Tomorrow

JAPAN'S athletes who are to compete in the Far Eastern Championships which start here next week will be greeted upon their arrival here today by representatives of the China Contest Committee, Japanese consular officials, Chinese Government representatives and a delegation to convey the greetings and welcome of the Japanese community of Shanghai.

The Japan teams are expected to arrive on the Yawata Maru, which docks at Wayside Wharf about 8:30 o'clock this morning. A tender will bring the athletes from the Wayside Wharf to the N. Y. K. mail wharf near the Japanese Consulate. Here the Nipponese are to be greeted.

Immediately upon their arrival they will go to the N.Y.K. building for instructions and assignment of rooms. As guests of the Japanese community here, they will be located at nine different hotels. They are to be entertained by Shanghai Japanese who have planned a series of social functions and sight-seeing tours of the city. The Japanese Olympic delegation will establish headquarters at the Japanese Club on Boone Road and the various teams start practice tomorrow at Hongkew Park.

Tomorrow will bring the delegation from the Philippine Islands, 139 strong. The Filipinos are to arrive on the cableship Bustamante which will be moored in the Whangpoo and is to be the headquarters of the Philippine teams while in Shanghai. No quarters have been engaged ashore for the athletes.

About forty of the China team are in town and the remainder will come in from various localities today, tomorrow and Thursday. The selection committee had a lengthy session last night and finally determined the list of East China men to fight against Japan and China.

BASKETBALL TODAY
China teams will be seen in action beginning today when North and South China basketball fives meet at the Public School for Boys. The game will be at 5 o'clock. Tomorrow afternoon at the same hour the quintet winning today's game is to play East China. It has not been settled whether or not the winner of the series will represent this country or the China fives will be picked from all teams.

Tomorrow afternoon at the Nanyang College field, the Chinese football team which is expected to cop the Far Eastern championship will play a combined team of St. John's and Nanyang stars.

OLYMPIC PICKUPS
Chinese track and field men are working out daily at the Hongkew park from 10 o'clock until noon and hours will be assigned today for the Philippine and Japanese delegations.

The United States Asiatic Fleet has entered 22 men in the open championships and the sailors will compete in track and field, baseball and basketball. Football will bring out China, Japan, the Philippines and the Shanghai British while teams entered in the open baseball championships include the Philippines, Shanghai, Japan, U. S. Asiatic Fleet, Peking Legation Marine Guard and the 15th United States Infantry.

But one entry has been received in the open water polo championships and the games committee is hopeful of getting teams to compete representing the International Swimming Club and the Police. The Shanghai Rowing Club has entered.

Chinese athletes are comfortably quartered at the Yih Ping Shang Hotel on Thibet Road, the delegation from South China being the first to occupy rooms. R. A. Leake of Foochow, who accompanied China's team to Manila two years ago, is with the Southern delegation. Leake is recovering from an operation on his eye and has been putting in a lot of hard work despite the difficulty.

SHANGHAI had a perfectly good game of baseball all tucked away in the winning column Sunday when they took a 4 to 0 lead on the first two innings of the first game of the opening series. But it wouldn't stay tucked. There was reason of course and it may as well be told right now. Hopkins couldn't do a thing with the Navy men except to present them with walks, with base-hits and with helpful little wild throws to bases when runners were on and prancing to go. The final score was 9 to 6.

The focal talent played a rattling good game both in the field and from the batters' box. They hit Weaver, the crack Marine south-paw for 10 healthy wallops, including a homer, a triple and two doubles. They played almost errorless ball. They took advantage of everything that offered. But Hoppy wasn't there. The Navy men got help to his simple cross-fire and his poor control in the third inning and they started after him. The result was an awful pounding. The fans were surprised that Wilhoit didn't yank him.

The Huron boys got their first tallies in the third by waiting Hopkins out for passes. Horner singled and Hoppy filled the bases by walking O'Barr and Johnson. Horner was caught at the plate Wilhoit to Roeser, but the two walkers, O'Barr and Johnson counted on Gage's single.

The next spasm counted two for the Navy on Weaver's triple. Scymanski's walk and O'Barr's single to center which scored them both. In the fifth Hopkins let Johnson and Gage score from third and second on a bad throw which Gage had coaxed on a long lead-off bait. It was Shanghai's only error.

The winning runs in the ninth all were earned. Five hits and a sacrifice did the trick. Horner singled. O'Barr sacrificed. Horner scored on Johnson's drive to left which bounced off Wolfe's shoe strings. Merrill singled, advancing Johnson, but was forced at second on Gage's grounder. Weaver singled and Johnson scored. Roberts singled and Weaver scored. The Shanghai team was a busy bunch fielding this avalanche of bingles.

Shanghai got their runs thusly: Woods singled to right in the opening inning. He stole second, took third on Roberts' fumble of Maloney's grounder and scored on S. F. Smith's hit. Maloney, safe on Roberts' error, stole second and scored on Smith's wallop. Crow drew a walk, and scored by a hair's-breadth when Horner fumbled the throw-in of Smith's hit. The fourth run came in the second inning from Roeser's homer along the third base line to the flower garden in front of the Cricket Club house. The two counted in the sixth grew out of S. F. Smith's single, Sperry's life on Scymanski's bad throw and Roeser's double.

Costumes At Henli Regatta Built For Comfort, Not Speed; Bathing Suits Spurn Water

BY ELSIE MCCORMICK

IT couldn't have happened anywhere else in the world except China. Regattas are common enough at home—every college with a pond enough for a shell to turn around in has a crew race each Spring to the accompaniment of pennants, class yells, and new gowns on the co-eds. Occasionally in the home country there are even international affairs, but never did one occur that could produce the same setting of motor-boats and junks, fashionably dressed spectators and water-buffalo that featured the regatta at Henli.

Lined with house-boats adfetter with enough pennants to do credit to a flagshop on a national holiday, the Tsing Yang Kong was picturesque even without the cavalcade of shells, motor-boats, sampans, yachts, and junks that paraded for a mile or so along its course. The alpha and omega of water-craft development was illustrated by a rotund affair which reminded one of the nursery rhyme about the three old men who put to sea in a tub, and a motor-boat with an airplane propeller, which towed over several coolies and kicked up a dust-storm in setting out close to the bank. In order to complete the scenic paradox, an airplane wheeled above the river, flying low over the marshes, band-stand and house-boats.

While the racing program was going on, an old man rowed up in a boat full of comorants, and sent them off fishing with the same aplomb as if the landscape was as vacant as a coolie's mind. The comorants cocked speculative eyes upward at the airplane and were so lax in tending to the business of the day that their proprietor finally removed them from the festivities.

There were approximately 500 foreigners at the regatta, including a number of nationalities and many types of costumes. Pro-

BY WHISTLE

The big cricket event of 1921, the interport game between Shanghai selected players and the cream of Hongkong's talent, will begin at the Shanghai Cricket Club's grounds at the Race Course at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Play is expected to continue for three days. The class of cricket to be shown by the interporters is promised to surpass any that has heretofore been seen in this city. Hongkong comes fresh from a hard early spring season of play, Shanghai has shaped up a team that promises everything for the S.C.C. That the game will be keenly contested is a surety.

There will be a five minute interval of play at 5 p.m. During the tea interval Sir Edward Fraser will unveil the Shanghai Cricket Club War Memorial. In the evening the Hongkong players will be guests of honor at a variety concert at the Lyceum Theater, with a program of amateur entertainers.

Shanghai rounded out its final day of practice Sunday with the conclusion of the match between the Probables and the Possibles. The game resulted in a win for the latter by a margin of 14 runs. Following is comment on the final practice.

The game between the Possibles and Probables was continued Sunday and resulted in a win for the "Possibles" by 14 runs as their opponents could only total 242 on a batsmen's wicket.

Quayle and Hawkins resumed against the bowling of V. H. Laning and Tiffin, and carried the score to 74 when Bhora clean bowled Quayle, who had contributed a useful 36. His departure seemed to bring "bad joss" to the "Probable" batsmen as Hawkins followed him in

ENGLAND IS WINNER OF EIGHTS RACE

Americans Win Regatta Honors With Two Firsts And Third

RECORD CROWD

Throng At Course Cheers Fresson's Flight Up River

Glorious weather again favored the Spring Regatta of the Rowing Club on Sunday, and this, combined with the absence of competitions from other sports such as there was on the Saturday, brought out a record attendance at Henli. After their comfortably easy victory in the fours on Saturday, the Americans were hot favorites for the eights on the following day, but as the result of rather difficult steering they found themselves lowered into last place (third). England won this event fairly easily, and Scotland got the verdict for second place over American by a narrow margin. The Yankee duo, however, brought home the honors in the pairs. Thus, America leads in the International rowing this year with two firsts and a third. England had a first, a second and a third, Scotland two seconds and a fourth and Denmark a third and a fourth. A unique feature, and an unscheduled one, of Sunday's regatta was the visit of an aeroplane piloted by Mr. Fresson, which delivered letters for Major McBain, its owner, who was up at Henli. It made a successful trip from its hangar on Huangjiao Road up to Henli and back, to the delight of all who were fortunate enough to witness it at both points.

In addition to the straight-oarsmanship items on the program, the mixed four, sailing race and barrel polo evoked not a little interest and amusement, and the unanimous verdict was that this year's Spring Regatta was an A. No. 1 event of its kind.

The detailed results of Sunday's competitions follow:

A minute or so, being caught by Murphy.

Capt. Barrett followed, only to return the ball into Tiffin's hands at his second stroke and himself to the Pavilion. Things looked serious but Muriel went in and played steady cricket at a critical juncture, making 32, and wearing the attack down considerably.

Leach's junction with Wainwright did not avail much, as after 16 runs had been added, the latter retired, caught out, but Hansell going in he and Leach changed the situation completely, carrying the score to 218 when Leach fell a victim to Billings, being cleanly stumped by Deeks.

This settled the fate of the "Probables," for though Dr. O'Hara looked like making a score, no one was able to stop with him and he was not out with 17 to his credit, and the Probables finished with 242 to the Possibles' 156.

The feature of the innings was Leach's 77; it was a fine display and he seemed at home from the start, hitting with freedom and timing beautifully.

The Possibles had a fine selection of bowlers, 10 of the side trying their hands. By far the best performance was that of Tiffin who took four wickets for 30 runs, the four being Capt. Barrett, A. E. Lanning, Hawkins, and Hansell which promises well for this bowler's future.

Comments On The Play

(BY "OLD TIMER")

THAT the interport match is attracting general interest was shown by the large crowds in attendance at the S.C.C. grounds on Sunday, both morning and afternoon.

Play did not commence until 12:50 so that it would not interfere with the church services. Incidentally numbers came from the chapels to watch the cricket—a good sign that they do not entertain petty prejudices against such harmless recreation on the Sabbath.

The subject of most comment in connection with the match was Capt. Barrett's failure to get going with the bat. His two ventures produced but three runs of which two were the outcome of an overthrow. In the morning the Countryman was dismissed summarily for a job caught and bowled by Tiffin. First ball he smothered as though it had him guessing, and the very next delivery he propped up weakly in front of the wicket.

Later in the day we all expected the Hampshire crack to make amends. Partnered by Hawkins he stole a run off the first ball, converted it into three on a wild throw at the wicket and everybody settled down to see some snappy play. Hawkins helped himself to a single also off Billings and then, Gees-Barrett tipped a good length rising ball into slip's hands and another favorite was beaten. Someone afterwards remarked "It is just as well. Barrett cannot surely make more than two failures in succession. So on the law of averages he must do well against Hongkong."

There is something in this logic and yet I cannot shake off the idea that this once magnificent batsman appears to be getting slow and slack in his methods. Especially does he show it in his fielding, but of course he will take the big match seriously.

Leach (87) was the star partner with the bat on Sunday. It was a delightfully vigorous innings almost free from blenish and we would all have liked to see Leach reach the much coveted century.

Hansell, Deeks, Muriel and Clifford were responsible for a good many runs too, the two first mentioned by patient play and the other pair by free hitting all around the wicket.

Another to shape nicely with the willow was Dr. O'Hara, who has made nearly 100 runs in the last two matches without losing his wicket. Hongkong will be fortunate if they get rid of the big medico cheaply. And then, of course, his left-hand trundling is bound to form the main part of our attack.

Hayward made a few beautiful shots on the off and fell to a weak stroke at a bad ball of Wainwright's. It cost Hayward his place in the Shanghai team.

Most of us thought that Quayle and Wainwright had also forfeited their claims by their failures to show representative form. Both however are included in preference to Billings and Hayward.

To me it seems a mistake and in the case of Billings, unaccountable. G.M.E. has been invaluable in many an interport struggle and no local man can boast a better record with the ball. Even on Sunday he gave us another taste of his destructiveness taking all four wickets that fell in the last "knock" including Barrett's, though he had generously let the others share the battery for the side he originally skipped, while he pattered about any old where in the field.

In his place and that of Hayward today go Quayle and Wainwright. The genial "Jimmy" is always liable to "come off" but Wainwright must show great improvement to justify his selection. May he do so will be the wish of all Shanghai supporters.

The next event on the card was the big draw of the day, the International Eight, for which America after her fine showing in the Pours on Saturday, was a prime favorite. The lack of team work, however, proved a decisive factor and England scored a well-deserved victory by a substantial margin over Scotland, who had a slight advantage over the Yankee octette at the finishing line, the favorites thus getting only third in spite of the fact that they led for nearly half the distance of the race, having again as on Saturday got away more quickly of the gun.

America might have won the eight-oared event had the Yankees been longer together. The four-oared boat was a hummer and Ericson and Schlobohm stamped themselves as a great duo by the manner in which they took the international pairs. Sanders was a good cox in both boats but when it came to the eight he was accused of bad steering with the men pulling against one another. It was a wobbly eight and Sanders or any other cox could not hold the men to a course.

In the Fall the Americans should start earlier on the eight. The perfect team work in evidence in the English boat was sadly lacking in the Yankee shell. England's eight has been in the water since last December and the English deserved to win. Schlobohm and Ericson have been in tip-top condition for months. With Edwards and James, two former college stars, this pair made the winning American four.

In discussing America's good showing this year two men must not be overlooked. H. P. Saffor and Bill Sauer did much to contribute to American victories in two of the three international events. By their encouragement, enthusiasm, knowledge of rowing and ability to impart that knowledge, the Yankee candidates were aided materially.

The veterans' race was scarcely as "fruitful" as similar events of the past, as the winning quartette, for instance, had few barnacles on them. Johanson, Edwards, Rodger and Miller were winners, coxed by Scott.

Time: 2m. 3.4-5s.

The sailing race under the auspices of the Midget Yacht Club was rather interesting, resulting as it did in a dead-heat between Mr. A. E. Algar's and Mr. E. T. Byrne's boats.

The mixed fours over a half-mile course was watched with interest and the form shown in all three boats entered was first-class. Mrs. D. H. Rodger stroking the winning quartette composed of herself, Miss Margaret Bunesco (Bow), and Messrs. Rodger and Brown at 2 and 3 position, coxed by Miss Leach.

The barrel polo was "most excellent footling," but owing to the difficulty of getting astride the barrels, the actual competition was in the end abandoned.

This was the third and last of the international races. America did not get away so fast as usual, taking up back position with Scotland after the start.

England leading, followed by Denmark. America, however, soon drew into the lead with a fast powerful stroke and had a notable advantage at the half-way mark. England being next, then Denmark and Scotland last. This was the order at the finishing line, America having gone still further ahead, and a good race for second place, which was taken by England, ensuing between England and Denmark.

The press stand must be a roomy affair for all the larger Japanese newspapers are sending men to "cover" the games, the Filipino newspapers are to be represented and the Chinese papers in Shanghai have the decks all cleared. Several Chinese dailies here will issue pictorial sections and at least five have arranged for daily illustrated articles.

OPEN SWIMMING

In order to try out several events, with a possibility of including them in the Far Eastern Championships in the future, the Contest Committee has added to the list of events published the following four, which will all take place on Wednesday evening, June 1: Plunge for Distance, Picking up Saucers on the Bottom of the Tank, Fancy Diving, Under-Water Swimming.

Entries will be received for these events up to eight o'clock of the evening of these contests. Any one desiring to have a part will kindly send in his name to the Contest Committee at the earliest possible moment, with the usual entry fee.

FULL MARATHON RUN

The full marathon of 25 miles, which was particularly asked for by the Japanese athletes, and in which six of them will take part, has been set for Wednesday, June 1, at the request of the Japan Committee.

It will probably begin at 2:30 at Hongkew Park and cover the five-mile lap for the Modified Marathon event, so that the competitors will return five times to the track before finishing. There is considerable interest in this event in Japan.

Great Crowd Sees Australians Play

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 21.—A highly interesting day's play was witnessed today at Lord's where the Australians opened a match against the M. C. C. in glorious weather, and in the presence of some 20,000 spectators. The M. C. C. had first innings and were all out for 234 runs at close of play. Evans contributed 69 not out, and Hubble 42, while Armstrong took four wickets for 81.

London, May 22.—The following eight cricketers have been definitely selected to play in the first test match against Australia: Douglas (Captain), Knight, Rhodes, Woolley, Holmes, H. Howell and Richmond. Jupp and E. Tyldesley have also been invited to attend at Nottingham on Saturday.

Notes On The Game

WE had a pair of umps, Sunday that didn't need any drawing to McGowan sounded like a big league. One could close his lamps and listen to his "Strike that!" and imagine himself back in the Big Town where old Stik O'Loughlin used to hold forth.

AND when they said "You're out!" they meant it. Wilhoit in the first inning tried to walk on a called third strike, but it didn't work. He went back to the dug-out very much out, like Mr. Umps said.

THE sailors looked a big ragged in the opening inning. Roberts fumbled Gage's throw of Bills' grounder and let the first man on. It was only by a beautiful throw-in from Merrill to Seymanski that Bills later was put out of the running.

WEAVER also qualified for the honor column when he dropped Maloney's pop fly in the first. It flustered him so that he issued his one pass of the day to the next man, Crow, and filled the bases. Two were down.

CABLE Company Smith came up and pounded out a hit that would win a blazer any old place. It clipped the daisies between first and second and went clean through. Merrill and Johnson both worked on it but couldn't retrieve it before two civilians had scored.

THE throw-in to catch Crow at the plate was a clear fumble for Horner, the only bad spot he had in an otherwise exceptional fine day's work.

SPEAKING of catchers note that new man Roeser and his work. He rapped out a homer, a double and a single in four times at bat. The fourth time he fied but to deep center. He got the ball to the outfield every time he came up. Also he was catching baseball.

FOUR stolen bases were chalked up against each catcher. GAGE got around the bases partly on bold base-running and partly on sheer luck. In the second he had a big lead off the middle station when Hopkins whirled for a throw. But the throw was terrible. Signals had failed. Bills made a frantic dash to the sack, and Hopkins charged his range and the ball went out to the Gardens.

IN the fifth Gage again was on second and Johnson on third. Gage took a lead to within arms reach of third. Hopkins threw to second. Again it went wild. Johnson and Gage scored. That was fifty-fifty. Gage drew a throw all right, but he was gambling from the short end.

HE tried the same long-lead, throw-me-out coxer again in the ninth but Hopkins was too busy getting pounded all over the lot. He didn't notice him. MERRILL has finally been drafted by the Huron. He played against his old playmates Sunday. It was too much to expect Lient Johnson to pass that boy up. But it's a bit hard on Cy Wilhoit.

BILLS' quick try at Prehn's hot grounder which bounded off Hopkins' mit in the sixth was one of the fastest pieces of infielding seen in Shanghai for ages. He had the ball scooped up and sailing bullet-like over to first before Wilhoit could get his hands together. Prehn deserved a hit on the ball but he had an awfully narrow squeak.

WILHOIT dropped out in the seventh with an injured fin and the lineup was shaken around to fit the emergency.

WITH 11 locals flying out and nine fanning the sailors had little chance to register assists. They counted only six.

SHANGHAI had 20 players out in uniform Sunday.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Dr. H. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

Case of Steamer Yingchow And Arratoon Apar Crash In British Supreme Court

Suit That Grew Out Of Collision Last February In Woosung River Begun—Statements Of Opposing Sides Are Presented

Hearing of the suit that grew out of the collision between the Arratoon Apar and the steamer Yingchow on the morning of February 17, last, was opened yesterday in the British Supreme Court before Mr. Skinner Turner as Judge and Commander A. E. Johnson of the British gunboat Bee as assessor. Mr. D. McNeill and Mr. N. Langley Smith appeared for the plaintiffs, owners of the Arratoon Apar, and Mr. H. Lipson Ward for the defendant, owners of the Yingchow.

The pleadings of the owners of the Arratoon Apar, a vessel of 2,931 tons net owned by the British India S.N.C. and en route from Calcutta to Kobe, were read by Mr. Langley Smith. The statements as read are as follows:

STATEMENT OF CLAIM

1.—The Arratoon Apar is a steamship of 2,931 tons net register owned by the plaintiffs The British India Steam Navigation Company Limited and at the time of the collision hereinafter mentioned was laden with a general cargo and was manned by a crew of one hundred and seventeen hands all told.

2.—On the 17th February, 1921, at about 7:39 a.m. the Arratoon Apar cast off from her moorings at the Hongkew Wharf of the Shanghai and Hongkew Wharf Co., Ltd., in the Whangpoo River, in tow of the steamer tugboat Guttschlag with the intention of continuing her voyage to Kobe. Her engines were put slow astern and a good lookout was being kept on board.

3.—The weather was fine and clear, the wind was strong northerly and the tide was top of flood of a force about one knot in the middle of the river with slack water at the sides of the channel.

4.—Shortly after the Arratoon Apar had cast off from the Wharf as aforesaid, those on board her observed a steamship homing proved to be the Yingchow approaching to the defendants' moorings up the river at a distance of about one mile.

5.—The Arratoon Apar proceeded in tow towards the side of mid-channel which lay on her starboard side and on reaching her proper position cast off her tug and straightened up with her bow heading down the river and her engines running at half speed ahead. Meanwhile the Yingchow was approaching on the port side of the Arratoon Apar at a high rate of speed and when between four and five cables distant from the Arratoon Apar sounded the starboard helm signal to which the Arratoon Apar at once replied with the port helm signal and stopped her engines. The Yingchow however continued to starboard her helm and to head towards the Arratoon Apar and under these circumstances the Arratoon Apar being as close to her starboard side of the river as she could with safety get reversed her engines at the same time sounding the regulation signal. In reply to the last mentioned signal the Yingchow again sounded the starboard helm signal and continued to head straight for the Arratoon Apar on her port bow and a collision being then imminent the Arratoon Apar dropped her starboard anchor to avoid being driven by the force of the expected collision on to other ships which lay on her starboard side.

6.—The Yingchow proceeded to head for the Arratoon Apar as though she intended to pass the Arratoon Apar port side to port side but she failed to avoid her with the result that the port bow of the Yingchow struck the port bow of the Arratoon Apar with great force doing her considerable damage. Immediately before the Yingchow struck the Arratoon Apar as aforesaid the Yingchow sounded the regulation signal to signify she had put her engines full speed astern.

7.—A good lookout was not being kept on board the Yingchow.

8.—The Yingchow improperly failed to keep to her starboard side of mid-channel and improperly failed to pass the Arratoon Apar port side to port side.

9.—The Yingchow was proceeding at an excessive rate of speed in the circumstances.

10.—The Yingchow improperly failed to slacken her speed or to stop or reverse her engines or to do so in due time.

11.—The Yingchow improperly failed to comply with Article 25 and 29 of the Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea and Article 17 of the Harbor Regulations for the Port of Shanghai.

12.—The said collision and the damages and losses consequent thereon were caused by the negligent and improper navigation of the Yingchow by the defendants or their servants.

13.—The Arratoon Apar improperly failed to comply with Article 29 of the Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea.

14.—By way of counterclaim the defendants repeat the allegations contained in the defense and say that they have suffered damage by reason of the said collision which was solely caused as aforesaid by the negligent navigation of the Arratoon Apar by the plaintiffs or their servants. The defendants counterclaim:

(1) Judgment against the plaintiffs for the damage sustained by reason of the said collision, at costs.

(2) A reference to the Registrar assisted by Merchants to assess the amount of the said damage.

Mr. McNeill said defendants admitted they were as close as they could get to the port side of the channel, which was a patent breach of the harbor regulations. That was something defendants had to explain or excuse. The defense was really in the nature of an attempt to show that although the Yingchow was to blame the Arratoon Apar was also in the wrong somehow or other. The only explanation of the Yingchow's action was that she saw the Arratoon Apar being hauled out from the wharf. That explanation, he submitted, was absolutely inadequate.

(Counsel then quoted a Tyne River collision case of a very similar nature in which the crossing vessel was held to be entirely in the right.)

It was said here that plaintiffs crossed the river improperly and continued to cross improperly after the Yingchow was observed. The Arratoon Apar had already waited while one ship had passed up. They did not start to cross recklessly and it was not until she had cleared the wharf that the Arratoon Apar saw the Yingchow coming up. The Yingchow said her speed was 8½ knots. He would call two independent witnesses who passed quite close to the Yingchow and who would say she was going 10 or 11 knots.

His Lordship—Your argument is that if you were right to start you were right to carry on.

Mr. McNeill—Yes, that is what I mean.

Capt. Jas. Budgen, licensed pilot, said he had received two rolls of film from the deck engineer of the steamer, the Pawlett, which was moored near the scene of the collision. The photographs were accurate representations of the positions of the ship before and after the collision.

Mr. Ward objected to the introduction of the photographs.

Capt. Budgen, continuing, said he went on board the Arratoon Apar at 7:15 a.m. He gave the tug Guttschlag directions as to taking the Arratoon Apar off. He waited for the Szechwan to pass up river. When he gave the order "Let go astern," he saw nothing else coming up or going down. He could see down river for about a mile and a quarter. About 7:42 a.m. he was between 400 and 500 ft. off the wharf, with the engines going ahead. He had seen the Yingchow about a minute after he had left the wharf. The Yingchow was then just over a mile away. She was coming round the bend opposite the Waterworks. He thought she was in mid-channel on the Shanghai channel. He had no reason whatever to suppose that she would not get across the river quite comfortably. The channel was 625 to 650 ft. wide at that part of the river. When he had the ship under command he gave the order to cast off the tug and just afterwards he heard two whistles from the Yingchow which was then about half a mile off. He was quite sure of that. She was then abreast of Wayside Wharf. That was the first signal he heard. He replied with one whistle and stopped the engines. Then thinking things were getting dangerous he gave three blasts and went full astern. The Yingchow replied with two, followed very quickly by three. The Yingchow at no time gave one whistle. There was no deviation made in the Yingchow's course to starboard. There was ample time for the Yingchow to have changed her course. The collision occurred at 7:47½ a.m. He was quite positive the Yingchow signalled two blasts a second time as he remarked to the Captain "Good God, she is coming on." He thought she was going 8 or 9 knots when she struck the Arratoon Apar. His engines were going full astern, but the ship was practically stationary. The angle of impact was about 30 degrees.

His Lordship at this point decided that the photographs were admissible.

In the afternoon, Mr. E. C. Stocker, of the Conservancy Board, said he was instructed on May 17 to make an examination of the force of the tides at the scene of the collision. The maximum force on that day was 1.17. The range of tide on the day of the collision was practically the same.

Mr. Longworth, C. M. Customs, said he remembered seeing the Yingchow on February 17. He was then berthing a Japanese steamer near No. 10 Buoy. He thought the Yingchow was going too fast. It was his duty to watch the speed of the ships and to report if they went too fast. He did not see the collision. If the accident had not occurred he would have reported the Yingchow for going too fast in the harbor.

Cross-examined—She was doing about 9½ knots. He would seriously report a vessel which was going at the speed at that part of the river. He heard no signals of any kind.

Capt. Budgen was then called for cross-examination. The tug was lying about amidship the Arratoon Apar. The vessel immediately in front of him did not interfere with his view. He could have left the wharf with safety when an up coming steamer at a moderate speed was about 400 yards away. A moderate speed meant about a knot faster than the tide. In that particular part of the channel no boat should go faster than that. The channel was quite clear so far as he saw when he was leaving the wharf. The Arratoon Apar was 410 ft. long. She went across the channel broadside.

The Captain of the Arratoon Apar was then called and was in the witness-box when the adjournment was taken.

REID'S LIMITED INCORPORATED

EFFORT MADE TO BRIBE ASSESSOR

which constitutes a very grave reflection not only on the personal honor of British Assessors but on the general administration of justice by British officials. That such an offer of a bribe should have been made, shows that there are persons who believe that British Assessors are open to corruption. How such an impression could have obtained currency? I am at a loss to understand for I believe this is the first occasion on which a British Assessor has been made a direct offer of a bribe.

"As a rule we are helpless in bringing to justice the cases of attempted bribery for the culprit approach our servants and I have very good reason to believe that in most cases the servants of Assessors have accepted bribes which the parties concerned are made to believe have gone into the pockets of Assessors. But as far as publicity could do, I intend to ensure that this is the last case in which an offer is made to an Assessor and that all persons who come into this Court are clearly to understand the disgust and horror with which this unclean practice fills our minds.

SHOP KEEPERS' LETTER

"There are other persons who may consider themselves extremely fortunate that they do not stand in the dock on a somewhat similar charge. I hold in my hand a letter addressed to me by a number of Chinese shopkeepers and others which reads as follows:

"We the undersigned merchants in Shanghai, understand that Poo King-yung has been arrested and detained by the International Police authorities on an alleged charge of being chief of a band of bad characters. We hereby declare that we know Poo King-yung well and guarantee that he is a law-abiding citizen and merchant. We hereby declare that the above charge made against him is false and that it must have been framed up by some enemy of his."

"As a rule, such a document is put into the waste paper, but I now take the opportunity to refer to this matter. The writing of such a letter is nothing but a direct attempt to influence an Assessor in the discharge of his duties. Such practice is liable to result in a heavy fine of a term of imprisonment for all concerned."

The Chinese Magistrate also commented upon the case.

"I wish to endorse the remarks of the learned Assessor," he stated, "and to add a few myself. The matter before the court is a very serious one indeed, as it tends to shake the belief of the people in the position and impartiality which has guided and I hope will continue to guide, the officials of this court. There seem to exist certain irresponsible people who by false pretenses and under the promise of being able to obtain certain favorable decisions in this court obtain money from parties interested, well aware that they cannot and dare not interfere in any way with the decisions. They cheat and defraud ignorant people and divert the money thus obtained to their own uses. In this special case an attempt has really been made to bribe one of our colleagues and the immediate arrest shows the serious way in which we view such an offense. Unfortunately the guilty person in this case has escaped and the charge against the accused must be dismissed. The public will take due note of this and will exercise great care in future. We must again warn the public not to listen to the promises of unscrupulous persons who make them for their own purposes."

GUILTY OF MURDER

The special hearing of the armed robber case was begun immediately following the ruling in the bribery charge and the interest which the proceedings have aroused in the public mind was attested to by the hundreds of Chinese who packed the streets adjoining the Mixed Court. Many deep, they lined the thoroughfares and shopfronts of the district throughout the afternoon, in the hope of seeing the prisoners when they were escorted back to the police station.

Testimony given by Detective Inspector Prince and other witnesses was similar to that brought out at the inquest over the bodies of the two detectives who were slain in the raid on the lodging house in Pakhoi Road last month. Statements were read and testimony was adduced to prove that certain of the defendants had participated in an armed robbery in Elgin Road. Other armed robberies and attempted murders are also alleged to have been committed by the band.

At the conclusion of the afternoon session the court found the first four accused guilty of murder in connection with the Pakhoi Road train robbery. Sentence was not imposed and the case was adjourned until today.

SPANISH CABINET OUT

(Reuters Service)

London, May 23.—Telegrams from Lisbon state that the cabinet has resigned owing to a peaceful revolution, which had no connection with the Royalists. It appears that the military made a concentrated demand for the resignation of the ministry. It is suggested in explanation that the move was to forestall an attempt by the Radicals to appoint the Premier, President of the Republic. Quiet prevails in Lisbon.

JAPAN'S PRINCE

(French Wireless through Reuters) Paris, May 21.—The Crown Prince of Japan is expected to arrive in France at the end of May.

After being officially received in Paris, His Imperial Highness will proceed to Belgium and Holland. He will probably also visit Italy, in which case it is understood he will have an audience of the Pope.

Colorful Throng Sees Boat Races At Henli Reach

minant among them were veterans of former years who sat under the masthead where loud drinks were served, commenting on the oarsmen and comparing their feats with the prowess shown in bygone days. The Shanghai Rowing Club has been in existence since 1866 and many of its past heroes still follow its affairs with considerable interest. Also among those present were a number of crew enthusiasts who viewed the regatta from behind the screen of a poker hand. Some of them spent a happy afternoon thus occupied in a shut-tracked first-class carriage, shut away from the maddening crowd and distracting views of the races.

Costumes as a whole were built for comfort rather than for speed. Sports suits and gingham dresses prevailed among the well-known feminine sex, few samples of the bizarre being in evidence. The great exceptions to this generalization were noticeable in the bathing attire. If brevity is the soul of a bathing suit as it is said to be of wit, most of those costumes had enough soul for an Edith Wharton heroine. There was one purple affair that emerged from a boat just as the Junior-Senior fours were finishing and which distracted attention to such an extent that nobody saw the end of the race. The general impression given by the bathing costumes was that of a compromise between Vladivostok and Coney Island. Incidentally, we don't remember noting that any of them were wet.

Far outnumbering the foreign contingent were Chinese spectators who flocked in from adjacent towns, villages, and rice paddies and who seemed to get more amusement out of the affair than their more sophisticated Western brothers. With an agility in catching stray pennies that would do credit to a true snapper for flies, Chinese vendors set up a miniature country fair where they sold weak sherbet, sugarcane, seaweed, seed candies, dried croquettes, and long narrow slices of a transparent jelly that suggested an eyesless deep-sea creature fond of browsing in the ooze on the bottom.

There were also sellers of combs, buttons, and other wardrobe necessities, besides merchants of squirming bamboo dragons and Chinese musical instruments that had a heavy sale with the foreigners. The Chinese present ranged from high-class gentlemen clad in silk and carrying fans to ragged little boys who helped themselves to bottles from the tables and anything else on which they could lay grimy hands. One of them had the front of his coat heavily ornamented with bottle tops and was feverishly looking for more decorations.

There was also a pet monkey present which one of the ladies wore on her shoulder and which caused a ripple of comment. A little fuel for conversation was likewise supplied by romantically inclined couples who mistook the greenward on the far side of the bridge for a spot in Arcady and who labored under the delusion that bright heads on serge shoulders are not visible in a range of twenty-five yards.

Except for the fact that one prominent citizen fell overboard from his motorboat, there were no casualties during the day. Flags fluttered, the band played, the vendors squawked, and spectators paraded up and down the marshes in a general atmosphere of peace and goodwill. As for us we had a thoroughly good time, even if we did have to ride home perched on a stool in the gallery of a dining-car.

An Announcement Of A Rich Collection Of Curios For Sale

A rich collection of curios is open for exhibition in my residence. It contains more than two hundred articles, of which the most antique Bronzes are ascertained to range from Shang and Chow Dynasties to that of the Two Hans, and the porcelains from Peh Soong to the beginning of the Tsin Dynasty. They are all well preserved pieces, real and fine. Regarding the genuineness, it has been verified either by authentic ancient books or by inscriptions as well as initials thereon. None of them is questionable as to its age, designs, markings, etc.

In addition to the Bronzes and Porcelains, there are also wide varieties of valuable Carvings in wood, bamboo, and precious stones, also natural Fossils, Inter-Stones, Tanshi Stones, and Chrysanthemum Stones, etc. Most of these articles are magnificent masterpieces of ancient fine art as identified in themselves, and already encased in beautiful artistic casing so as to facilitate transportation at any time.

Due to the successive disturbances in the province, and the recent irregular financial conditions in general, the proprietors of this collection are willing to offer their highly esteemed treasure for cash. Now I take the liberty to introduce the same collection to any Chinese or foreign connoisseur who is prepared to take same over at a favorable price.

Those interested in the matter of inspection are requested to apply to Chen Wan Shian Tan, No. 4 Shu Day Tze Kow, Changsha, Hunan, by notifying me in advance, so that I will have the honor of welcoming their esteemed visits at a specified time.

KINGMAN & BROS.

How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, estro-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of digestion there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

May 23, 1921

Spot bar silver was up 1/8d.
and forward 3/8d. in London on Saturday. The New York price advanced to 58 cents and the London-New York cross rate is 400 %.

The official rates today were unchanged from Saturday and the market though opening uncertain was on the whole steady but firm. At the opening speculators bought Sterling as low as 3/2 % and Gold Dollars at 64 1/2 %.

However, as banks were good sellers at these rates the market soon firmed up and business in Sterling at one time was done as high as 3/2 1/4 and in Gold Dollars at 65 1/2. However, banks were buyers rather than sellers at these rates and at the close there were sellers of Sterling at 3/3 1/4 and of Gold Dollars at 65 1/2.

No particular news has been received from abroad since the last writing but the silver market seems to be a shade steadier at the present level.

The Upper Silesian Cloud

THE Daily Mail's correspondence with the German forces—"so runs a Reuter cable received yesterday. And Reuter's comment is that "such representation is indicative of the changing times." Most assuredly it is. Yet any attempt to deduce from the startling developments of the last ten days that Great Britain and France have reached the parting of the ways would be premature to the point of foolishness.

The great interests of the British and French still lie together and while there has been a flare up over the complicated and vexing question of Upper Silesia, it is to be noted that already the discussion is taking on a calmer and friendlier tone. Notes are being exchanged daily between London and Paris and the likelihood of a peaceful settlement of the dispute being reached is much brighter than it was five days ago.

One notable development is that the Allied Upper Silesian Commission, consisting of one British one French and one Italian representative is in agreement "as to the desirability of notifying the German local authorities of the danger arising from the continued infiltration across the German-Silesian frontier." With the holding back of this dangerous element and the decision of Korfanti to withdraw his insurrectionary troops pending the Allied decision, the whole crisis assumes a more hopeful aspect.

And while there has been some severe fighting, the fact remains that neither the German nor the Polish government is involved and that both governments are trying to hold back the insurrectionary and unofficial bodies of troops whose adventurist leaders have been so largely responsible for the ugly and unnecessary row.

There is still to come the eventual settlement and whatever form it takes it will cause heartburnings. But when the premiers of France and Great Britain get together they realize the necessity of agreement and whatever the agreement is they will have the forces at hand necessary to put it into effect.

The Super-Supers (Japan Advertiser)

THE new British battleships, if they are correctly described, take the wind out of the sails of both the Japanese and the American naval programs. The obvious answer is for the United States to get a new program going which will take the wind of John Bull's sails in due course. Japan has a handier remedy. Her program is authorized already and all she need do is to convert the remaining ships of the eight and eight fleet into 70,000 ton super-super-super-hoods, mounting 25-inch guns, carrying a brigade of fighting men and technicals, and costing two hundred million yen apiece. All the laws of self-preservation ever invoked by experts make it just as necessary for America and Japan to go one better than England as it was necessary for England to go one better than them. They must build warships, not for war—the experts and the naval ministers never mention it; its name is never heard—but to preserve the peace. John Bull's little compliment having been duly returned, his vital interests and national safety will impel a fresh move in the game, and eventually we may hope to see our various coasts surrounded by warships as the Christmas turkey is surrounded by sausages. The taxpayer, for whose protection all this is meant though he may have some difficulty in realising it, will sleep in peace at last, if he has not given up the ghost in his unequal fight with those costly defenders.

The spectacle is like three squirrels chasing each other round a revolving cage. The faster they go the faster the wheel revolves and they get a lot of splendid exercise without any risk of catching each other. In this case it is the taxpayer who gets the exercise, and so long as he is willing to pay and look pleasant his experts will design toys for him. The only country that will profit by naval rivalry between England, America and Japan is Germany, which is ironically forbidden to waste her money on armaments and compelled to develop her production. There is no safety in this game of beggar my neighbor and it is time that the plain people who foot the bill told their rulers that they must look for security by different roads.

Correspondence

THE OPIUM CASE
Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir—The recent opium case tried before the International Mixed Court, in which a foreigner came into the limelight, involves a question of international ethics which is of considerable interest. The facts as known are that the Assessor dismissed the case against the Chinese boy who was arrested while carrying the goods, and ruled that the opium be turned over to the foreigner in question on "ex parte" proceedings. The police refused to turn the prohibited drug over, or in other words, refused to comply with the Court's decision. Under the circumstances, in the regularly constituted court of any civilized country, the police would have been guilty of contempt of court, and an order from the Bench to that effect generally is not appealable. The wisdom of such jurisprudence and its applicability to the particular case under review is quite apparent, because the police have shown defiance and wilfully refused to carry out the court's mandate. The decision of a court, whether fair or unfair, is certainly not to be questioned by subordinate officials charged with its execution, but unfortunately, due to the multiplicity of jurisdictions in China, we are confronted with precisely such an anomaly, which involves a question of international ethics. It is a dangerous precedent to establish, and it becomes the duty of every foreign national enjoying the extra-territorial rights in China to see that it is not established, for obvious reasons.

In the case under review there is no doubt but what the action of the police was defiant and in direct contempt of court, whose decision, whether fair or unfair, should have been carried out, and it appears to me that the proper procedure, in case of dissent, would have been for the police to secure a conviction of the "ex parte" claimant of the smuggled drug in his own court before attempting to carry the case before the Consular Body, thereby offering a further contempt to a sovereign power to which it owes obedience.

Since such a case has occurred, it is to be hoped that when it comes before the Consular Body a definite ruling will be made to avoid the repetition of a conflict of this nature, which can only implant a wrong impression in the minds of the Chinese, who certainly, under the circumstances, look upon our police force as autocratic to which the judicial power is subordinate, when in reality it should be the vice-versa.

If the ruling of the Consular Body is adverse to the police, and if it is shown that by reason of the illegal retention of the property the claimant had suffered pecuniary damages, the question arises as to what redress at law he would have and how to recover it. Under such circumstances, the police may be administratively dealt with, but how and where to recover pecuniary damages is another phase of the controversy which should be of interest to watch. Thanking you for the publication of the above, I am, etc.

Shanghai, May 22, 1921.

EMPIRE DAY

The Union Jack will float proudly today wherever groups of British men and women reside.

Despite the troubles, internal and external, the Empire must still stand as the emblem of truth and freedom. That is the thought uppermost in the masses of people today who claim the protection of the British Empire, and are proud to owe a willing allegiance to King George V.

The troubles only call to mind the words of Kipling:

"England's on the anvil—hear the hammers ring—

Clanging from the Severn to the Tyne!

Never was a blacksmith like our Norman king—

England's being hammered, hammered, hammered into one.

• • • • •

England's on the anvil! Heavy are the blows!

(But the work will be a marvel when it's done)

Little bits of kingdoms cannot stand against their foes.

England's being hammered, hammered, hammered into one.

• • • • •

There shall be one people—it shall serve the Lord—

(Neither Priest nor Baron shall escape!)

It shall have one speech and law, soul and strength and sword.

England's being hammered, hammered, hammered into shape.

• • • • •

And so it is with the Empire. Strife is life; and life is growth.

The Empire's being hammered, but hammered into shape.

• • • • •

The year 1759 has been quoted as the birthday of the British Empire. It was the wonderful year. It was the year in which the British were successful off Lagos; at Quiberon Bay; at Minden; at Guadeloupe; at Havre; and finally at Quebec.

But we are inclined to attach too much importance to birthdays—until we reach a certain age, when we go to the other extreme and like to ignore them altogether; and so the successes of a year might justly be remembered for the resultant good, while the animosities that led up to them can be forgotten in a welded friendship.

• • • • •

It is good to remember that Dominion acquired by the sword can only be maintained by the sword, and ultimately the sword always falls unless it is reinforced by the arts and crafts of peace.

The essential factor which distinguishes the British Empire from the Jerry-built ones that have come and vanished in the first storm, is the colonist, not the settler, the settler, not the sergeant. He has welded the sword and spear; he has scattered seeds, not blows, and has returned bringing his sheaves with him—sheaves of good grain, and not the tares of human tears and curses.

• • • • •

But Empire is the mother of responsibilities, and like a good mother she must care for them. The British Empire has its problems immediate and remote. The chief problem is how to promote and strengthen the bonds of friendship which unite the many communities whose history and condition are so closely identified with Great Britain.

Another problem is, how they may best co-operate for the common good of the Empire to which they all belong and from which they all derive benefit.

A third problem is raised by the great variety of laws in force in different Dominions and colonies. Still a further problem is that of Imperial Trade. Only in the last few days some have urged that the ideal should be Free Trade within the Empire, as within Canada or Australia or South Africa, with a tariff on goods from without the Empire; while others are satisfied with the idea of preference. And so problem upon problem presents itself and each and all await solution.

But let the motherland be true to herself and her traditions and the mists of uncertainty will be dispelled in the sunshine of unity.

Lane, Crawford And Co., Ltd.

A dividend of 10 percent was declared on its capital stock, at the annual general meeting of Lane Crawford and company held yesterday afternoon. Mr. James Ambrose, chairman of the board of directors presided, supported by Directors D. W. Crawford, E. H. Dunning and A. E. Algar. Shareholders representing 1,855 shares were present.

The report of the chairman outlined a projected rebuilding of the Lane, Crawford store. An architect's drawing on display at the meeting showed the rebuilt store. It will occupy all of the space between the Palace Hotel and the Chinese American Bank of Commerce. It will have two storeys with all front space on both floors devoted to plate glass show windows. Work will commence in the near future.

The chairman's speech follows:

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

"Gentlemen: Your directors have much pleasure in presenting such a satisfactory result of the year's working. The conduct of your business during the past year has not by any means been an easy matter, due principally to the continual drop in exchange which on March 1, 1920 stood at 8s. 6d. as against 3s. 2d. on March 1st last.

"I had it been possible to foresee such a drop it could have been largely guarded against by settling exchange forward, but the management quite wisely considered it was not justified in gambling in exchange and so adopted the conservative principle of settling for goods on their arrival at the best rate of exchange available. As things have turned out a gamble in exchange would have enabled us to land goods here at a much lower cost thereby benefiting our customers, but the principle adopted was approved of by the board as being the only safe and sound one.

PRICES CONTINUE HIGH

"The price of goods both in England and the United States showed little or no reduction during the year. In fact in some instances they were higher in 1920-1921 than during the previous year, and though government restrictions on exports from England are somewhat easier, prices have not in consequence been reduced, though there has perhaps been some what less difficulty in filling our requirements though whatever reductions were made in home prices, they did not affect us as they came too late in the season, but it is I think safe to say that so long as the present very unsatisfactory conditions of labor unrest continue, it is hopeless to expect any material reduction in prices of most goods at home.

"Turning to the accounts you will see that the balance from working account is $119,350.25 against $97,000.61 last year or an increase of $22,349.64. This is not a record year for us, but it is a very good second. Last year our balance sheet at the end of the year showed a profit of $330,000.00, and your directors consider it is quite unnecessary to reduce this item below that figure in view of the fact that the council's assessed value of the land is 255,592.00 or more than the book value of land and buildings combined. Debiture issue on the security of the aforesaid land and buildings remains the same, viz: 240,000.00.

"Furniture and Fixtures now stand in the balance sheet at $12,310.75 as against $4,000.00 in our last balance sheet, but you will note that during the year we have expended in addition to this item $13,310.75 or $1,000.00 more than their value in our books. In this connection I would like to say that since the inception of this company the sum of $42,250.00 has been written off furniture and fixtures, so it is safe to assume they are worth very considerably more than the figure at which they stand in our books.

"Stocks stand at $562,987.09 or an increase over the previous year of $44,638.74. The stock in all departments has been valued on the most conservative lines, very ample allowance having been made on articles which might be considered as "shop-worn" though quite sound and saleable.

STOCK TURNOVER GOOD

"In connection with our stock you doubtless remember that at our last annual meeting you were informed your directors had decided to apply the $100,000.00 standing in our books to the credit of stock reserve account in writing down our stock by that amount, which was done by the allocation of a percentage of same corresponding to the value of the stock held by each department, and your directors firmly believe that our action has not only been of great benefit to our customers, but it has largely increased our turnover, during the year under review, which though not a record one, runs our record year very close, but to prepare for eventualities we are proposing to devote $40,000.00 out of the profits of the year to a new 'Stock Reserve Account.'

"Bank overdraft is $145,402.98 or a reduction of $12,341.32 during the year. It is not a large amount but it is in the right direction. Sundry debtors stand at $155,400.10 or a slight increase of $167.52 in this item over last year, a very small amount taking into consideration our increased turnover during the year. All accounts have been thoroughly examined and any of a doubtful nature have been written off, which does not however mean they are absolutely lost.

"General reserve still stands at $150,000.00 and at present it is not considered necessary to add to it as it already represents 60 percent of your capital. While on the subject of reserves, you will see from the report it is proposed to set aside out of this year's profits the sum of $30,000.00 to a building reserve account. This is an entirely new departure and it is being done to provide funds for the cost of very considerable alterations which your directors propose carrying out to our buildings.

TO REBUILD STORE

"As a commencement you will have noticed we have resumed possession of the premises formerly occupied by the Robinson Piano Company, and plans for the alteration of our front and interior alterations have been prepared and are now in the hands of the Public Works Department with an application for a permit to proceed with the work, consent for which we anticipate receiving in a few days.

"This question has been before your directors for some considerable time, and they believe that what has now been decided upon will very largely help not only in increasing our business but in a more easy working of same. "Investment account has been reduced in our books to $4,765.04 by the sale of the £1,000.00 National War Bonds, the total proceeds from which having been credited this account, hence the small amount shown. A list of our investments can be seen by any shareholder sufficiently interested to do so.

"From the report you will see that the balance at credit of profit and loss account which includes $15,518.66 brought forward from last year amounts to $111,147.56 which it is proposed to deal with as follows: To pay a dividend for the year of 10 percent absorbing $25,000.00, transfer to stock reserve account $40,000.00, transfer to building reserve account $30,000.00 and to carry forward to new account $16,147.56."

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were passed:

That the reports and statement of accounts be adopted, proposed by the chairman, seconded by Mr. D. W. Crawford.

That a dividend of 10 percent on the capital stock of the company be declared, to be paid at the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation to shareholders on record May 23, 1921, proposed by the chairman, seconded by Mr. Crawford.

That Mr. James Ambrose be re-elected a director of the company, proposed by Mr. E. H. Dunning, seconded by Mr. A. E. Algar.

That Messrs. G. H. and N. Thomson be re-elected auditors for the ensuing year, proposed by Mr. L. M. Midwood, seconded by Mr. H. J. Ambrose.

EMPIRE DAY and EGYPT

The celebration of Empire Day owes its origin to the efforts of the late Mr. Arthur W. A. Beckett, for more than twenty years Assistant Editor of PUNCH.

The following quotation from the original circular sent out by him and the late Sir Walter Besant will explain how it originated:

"The 24th of May, 1899, as the eightieth birthday of the Queen seems particularly appropriate for the inauguration of Victoria Day.

Already the Queen's birthday is kept as a National Festival in India, Canada, Australia and the Colonies generally. It is the object of the Victoria Day Celebration Committee to bring the United Kingdom into line with the Colonies and other parts of Her Majesty's dominions."

It was found that Empire Day was a better title than Victoria Day and so it came to pass that this official holiday was established.

The Cathay Trust, Ltd.

The report and accounts of the affairs of The Cathay Trust Ltd., in voluntary liquidation were read to shareholders representing 93,650 shares at the fourth year's meeting in liquidation held yesterday at the offices of Messrs. Matthews and Ross, Liquidators.

The report follows:
"The liquidators disposed of the remaining Telogredio shares, including rights of a new issue for a net sum of $6,130.51—the proceeds were placed on fixed deposit with the bank as exchange was very high at the time of sale, and eventually cashed at 4/9 producing Tls. 25,811.56. After protracted negotiations and due in great measure to a visit to London by one of the liquidators last year, the sterling debentures were sold for £30,000 payable at different dates, producing Tls. 118,894.29. All securities have been realised and all loans and advances collected in full with compound interest. Excluding the small cash balance the only asset remaining is a share in a steamship company which has returned its capital to the shareholders but claims a large sum from the Hongkong Government: this may become the subject of a legal action: under the circumstances it is impossible to judge what, if anything will be realised from this source.

"During the year dividends have been paid as under:

9th dividend January 15, 1921 Tls. 0.90
10th dividend April 15, 1921 Tls. 0.90

"The total returns to ordinary shareholders now amount to Tls. 10 per share in all three million taels: it is noteworthy that whereas the total assets were estimated at Tls. 3,650,000 at the date of the commencement of the winding up, the total realisations to date amount to Tls. 4,310,662.07.

ANALYSIS OF BALANCE
"Total realisations 4,310,662.07
"Total disbursements 4,308,446.81

"Balance: Tls. 2,215.26
"The balance is made up as follows:

(1)—Cash in hands of liquidator
(2)—Total payments into bank, including balance at date of commencement of winding-up: Tls. 4,749,982.54

Total withdrawals from Bank Tls. 4,747,767.28

Balance at Bank: Tls. 2,215.26

"1.—The amount of the estimated assets and liabilities at the date of the commencement of the winding up:—
Assets—about 3,650,000.00
Liabilities—about 95,000.00

"2.—The total amount of the capital paid up at the date of the commencement of the winding up: In cash £220,899.0.0

"3.—General description and estimated value of outstanding assets: Shares in a S/S Co. 2,215.26
Cash 2,215.26

"4.—Causes which delay the termination of the winding-up: Difficulty in realising shares above.

"5.—Period with which the winding-up may probably be completed. One year."

Kapala Islands Estates Meeting

The eighth annual meeting of the Kapala Islands Estates, Ltd., took place yesterday at the office of their secretaries and general managers, Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons, 2 Kiukiang Road. Mr. R. N. Truman, chairman of the board of directors, presided and was supported by Mr. A. J. Welch and others. The total number of shares represented at the meeting was 117,372.

The secretary having read the notice of the meeting the chairman said:

"The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will follow the usual course and take them as read.

"The effects of the serious epidemic of influenza in 1919 are shown in the working of the estate during 1920. Owing to the disorganisation of the labor force, the revised estimate of output was not reached, and the overhead charges on this reduced crop, the enormous loss on rice amounting to over $30,000 and expenses incurred in engagement of further labor, have resulted in the increase of cost of nearly 10d. per lb.

"The cost of production amounted to 2s. 2.22d. per lb. which of course is considerably more than the average price received and after payment of debenture and other interest and Shanghai expenses, the debit on profit and loss account is Tls. 17,777.33 for the year, making the total at debit of this account, Tls. 79,562.21.

"Since the recent heavy fall in the price of rubber, the difficulty of continuing has been accentuated. In order to curtail expenses, a portion of the labor force has been repatriated, the opportunity being taken of resting certain areas which were in need of it. The European staff has been reduced to a minimum and every possible economy instituted consistent with the bare maintenance of the estate in a reasonably clean condition. At the present price for rubber, however, there is a considerable monthly loss on working and the question of finance is a very serious one.

"As you are aware, the previous overdraft with the company's bankers was guaranteed by Mr. Kadoorie, and in order to relieve this gentleman of this responsibility as he was leaving for England, an issue of debentures was made to repay this overdraft and provide funds for the upkeep of the property, and up to date Tls. 151,000 has been issued for these purposes. The whole of these debentures have been taken up by Mr. Kadoorie and as the company has not been in a position to pay the interest except by the issue of further debentures, it will be realised by shareholders that the continuance of the company's undertaking practically rests with Mr. Kadoorie. The position has been put before that gentleman and the directors now await the expression of his intentions in the matter.

"As regards the working of the estate during the year, full details have been given you in the report, and apart from the health and labor troubles previously referred to, conditions may be regarded as fairly satisfactory.

"If any shareholders have any questions to ask, I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability.

No questions being asked, the following resolutions were passed. "That the report and accounts for the year ended December 31, 1920 as printed and circulated be passed." Proposed by Mr. R. N. Truman, seconded by Mr. A. J. Welch.

"That Mr. R. N. Truman be re-elected a Director of the Company." Proposed by Mr. A. W. Burkill, seconded by Mr. A. K. Craddock.

"That the appointment of Mr. A. J. Welch as a Director of the Company be confirmed." Proposed by Mr. A. K. Craddock, seconded by Mr. R. N. Truman.

"That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-elected Auditors to the Company at an annual remuneration of Tls. 300 for Shanghai and Singapore." Proposed by Mr. E. Loureiro, seconded by Mr. A. J. Welch.
